SIXTEEN-STORY OFFICE BUILDING FOR NEW ORLEANS.

To Cost One and Half Million Dollars—Site Present Jesuit College at Common and Baronne Streets.

The largest real estate transaction ever negotiated in New Orleans was closed Saturday, when the Jesuit College property, at Baronne and Common streets, was leased for 99 years for approximately ten million dollars.

The immediate corner will be the first unit utilized. On eighty feet of the Baronne street frontage will be erected a 16-story store and office building, estimated to cost $1,500,000. The ornamental structure has been designed by S. Scott Joy, of Chicago, who drew the plans for the largest buildings in the United States. The plans for the remainder of the area have not been completed, but will involve even development.

The lease does not include the Jesuit Church and the McCloskey building, of the canal plan, 500 ft. long. The church is the only Catholic edifice in the heart of the central retail and financial district and is so convenient and popular that there is no idea of its removal. The other building retained will be remodelled and serve as a home for the college fathers now quartered in the college.

The college itself will be replaced by a great modern school to be erected in another section of the city from plans by Toledoan, Wogan & Co. on a site acquired some months ago by the religious order. The various improvements outlined will increase the present investment to $15,000,000, and the outlay will be followed by still more capital and construction.

ALL TEACHERS SHOULD TAKE COUNTY PAPER.

The County Newspaper is in Reality an Educational Institution in Itself.

Weekly news letter from the State Department of Education, by W. P. Bond, Superintendent.

Every teacher should subscribe for his or her county newspaper for the following reasons:

1. The county newspaper is in reality a county educational institution that does more to form public sentiment than perhaps any other agency in the county.

2. The children of every school should read the paper regularly and vital importance to the people of the county. Once a week, therefore, the paper should be used as a kind of text book on good citizenship.

3. There should be in every school a regular correspondent for the paper, so that worthwhile things accomplished by the school may be proper appreciation by the people of county generally.

4. The editor of the paper is generally a man who has been fighting for years for better schools and a proper appreciation by the people of teachers generally.

5. The county paper is the one factor that can have the strongest influence in the upbuilding of the county generally. The teacher as a forward looking progressive citizen should co-operate with the paper by subscribing for it and reading it.

If the paper is not what it should be it may be that the teachers, and people generally are as much at fault as anyone else because they haven't given it the proper support.

UNLAWFUL TO HUNT NOW.

It is unlawful to hunt in Hancock County, Game is protected from May 1st to October 1st. The season opens on the 1st of next month. Hunters will be required to have a county license, $2.00. Non-residents may procure a similar license, but the cost is $25.00.

WAVELAND AND THE SEA WALL.

Fearing the burden of cost and the responsibility of construction of the sea wall and "fill" at Waveland is all too great, a committee of Waveland citizens and property owners, headed by their attorney, R. L. Genin, appeared before the Board of Supervisors of Hancock county a few days since in behalf of the county taking the project over.

Believing that Waveland is one of the most valuable sections of the county, and that part of the county one of the largest contributors to the county exchequer through medium of taxation, and since Waveland is a "feeder" to Bay St. Louis in a commercial sense, citizens feel the county should come to the rescue in a time of crisis. For Waveland's future and very existence, in fact, depends upon the building of this sea wall or anything else that may serve as a permanent bulwark.

The committee were not only well received, but their proposition favorably entertained for the time being. The gentlemen were told to return and in the meantime a plan would be worked out whereas the assistance, if found practicable and feasible, would be forthcoming.

Of course, the present plan proposed by Waveland will have to be changed. It is well known the Board of Supervisors, already appropriating $50,000 to the project, never did sanction the sloping beach proposition, and while the modified form of wall was accepted it was never totally satisfactory. Just what plan will be evolved is not known. It is thought, however, the best and most expeditious manner is to levy an extra tax, just as the 1 mill is in vogue at present, in order to realize the $50,000 referred to hereinabove.

There will be a general approval of the project to help Waveland; even though some may strenuously object. It would indeed be a great mistake to turn a deaf ear to the cause. The county could ill afford not to assist liberally in building the wall. We hope a plan satisfactory to all concerned will soon be evolved, and, further, that it will be put into execution at an early date. Waveland is as much part of Hancock county as any other portion; its front road as much part of the county as elsewhere in Hancock, where hundreds of thousands of dollars are being expended at present in building and graveling and constructing permanent roads, as in Bay St. Louis, and as such Waveland is entitled to all she can legitimately get. We feel satisfied the Board of Supervisors will come to the rescue.

SUBJECT OF AUTO TOURIST CAMP.

Returning recently from an extensive auto trip to the northwest, a Bay St. Louis party has become imbued with the establishing of an auto touring camp, the same as exists now practically over the country.

There are many, and there will be thousands more of autos, going through Bay St. Louis, traversing the Spanish Trail, and if not that particular route, traveling from the Pacific Coast to Florida or on to New York. Bay St. Louis is on this mighty route. Bay St. Louis is a good and attractive place to stop over, and if the facilities are at hand motorists will embrace the advantage to do so.

It is a fact, although not generally known, there is not a tourist camp in New Orleans. True, motorists make the City Care Forget a stopover, and "park" either in the outskirts of City Park or some other quiet and suitable place, but the advantages of the regular tourist camp are not there. Then, why not Bay St. Louis?

The Echo has frequently referred to the possibilities of a tourist camp in Bay St. Louis. In some places there are free municipal tourist camps; in other places a charge of only $1.00 a day and night is made. Here the travelers are provided with shower baths, light, fuel, ice, etc. In many places there is a grocery and general supply shop in the midst of such camp, and the report invariably is that "Business is good."

A tourists camp for Bay St. Louis, whether it be municipally-owned and free, or whether it be privately-owned and a nominal charge exacted, would be a drawing card; the means of having thousands of visitors to stop over; do a little trading, visit the place and possibly in future return. In the absence of such a camp there will be thousands and thousands of travelers who, in future, will give Bay St. Louis the "grand go-by" and forget that such a place ever existed. It is a great pity after we get the stranger here within our gates, we cannot ask him to at least tarry a while.

The former Kaiser guessed wrong about victory, but he didn't miss it any when he said the United States would pay for the war.

HARRISON COUNTY'S GREAT ENTERPRISE.

Harrison county, the neighbor across the Bay, is engrossed in the early probability of building a great sea wall, extending from the extreme western limits of Pass Christian and Henderson Point on to the eastern confines of Biloxi. The project, grossly estimated by competent engineers, will call for an expenditure of $2,000,000.00, and such a report has been made to the Board of Supervisors of that county. In turn that body has called an election to be held November 4th, to let the people decide whether or not they wish to shoulder such a debt and build the wall; to rescue themselves and property for once and for all from the uncertainty of the elements in periodical disturbance. It is natural to expect the call for a bond issue of even such gigantic sum as two million dollars, will be acted upon favorably at the polls and the citizens of that stretch of the Mississippi Gulf Coast indicated above will be sheltered for all time to come.

It is a great project and one that calls for consideration. It is paramount just now to all other questions and proposition of the like, and we must wait until this will have been disposed of before the matter of the Hancock-Harrison counties' bridge project can be considered. Then we feel certain our own great project will become a matter accomplished.

Harrison county has entered upon a great era of prosperity and material growth within the last few years. Indications point this is, however, only the beginning of a greater period of building and general development. And of this there is no doubt. We must take the project of building this great sea wall as an outstanding and unquestioned, evidence. Such enterprise argues well for the people of Harrison county, and that section of our sea coast. The cost almost staggers. But they possess the values manifold and are willing to meet the cost. It is a great enterprise, but not greater than the enterprise of the people of that county.

NEGRO REPUBLICAN LEADERS DESERT PARTY.

Defections of negro leaders from the Republican party are giving much concern to President Coolidge's managers in Northern States, where negro voters number many thousands. Within the last few weeks several prominent negroes have announced their intention of supporting John W. Davis. Word of these desertions from the Republican ranks has been passed along to thousands of negroes by newspapers published in the interests of their race.

One of the most outstanding of these defections was that of William H. Lewis, former assistant attorney general of the United States, now living in New York. Lewis has declared his purpose of voting and working for Davis. Lewis issued a public statement indicating his preference. He attended Amherst College, from which President Coolidge was graduated, and completed his law studies in Harvard.

Revel Henry Fooks, of Philadelphia, former editor of an influential newspaper devoted to the welfare of the negro people, has also given notice that he will support John W. Davis. For many years Mr. Fooks was a member of the Citizens' Republican Club of Philadelphia.

"I have lost my respect for the Republican party by reason of its moral cowardice and its predatory use of its powers," said Mr. Fooks in an interview. "I have no interest in politics as a negro except as an American. To my way of thinking Mr. Coolidge is just a figurehead for party symbols. He does not merit the vote of an intelligent negro. Thousands of negroes are thinking along the same lines and will vote accordingly in November."

Regardless of the merits of Judge Caverly's decision, in the case of Loeb and Leopold, self-confessed kidnappers and murderers, the crime is henceforth licensed. With capital punishment the law of the land, the decision is naught else but a miscarriage of legalized justice. To invade the school house premises, call your boy away and make him the victim of murderous pursuit is to bring the matter home. Can we condone this proceeding? Your boy or your girl might be the victim of such plot today or tomorrow. The death penalty would bring the law into sterner consideration and the making for better exemplary force. Violators of law constitute those void of regard and respect and they must be brought to a sense of realization, and wherein they fail they must be made to pay.

A gentleman from New Orleans, purchaser of property in Bay St. Louis, and who with his family resides here the greater part of the year, says: "I have been reading The Sea Coast Echo for a number of years. Its wide awake and boosting spirit and backing its assertions with facts, were directly instrumental in my coming to Bay St. Louis and living here." His name on application.

G. O. P. EDITORS NOW CUT OUT DAWES PROFANITY.

The habit of profane speech, which brought Vice Presidential Candidate Dawes back into the limelight and kept him there till he was nominated as President Coolidge's partner on the Republican ticket, is now one of the influences that threaten to relegate him to his former inconspicuity. Republican editors have begun to delete Mr. Dawes' profanity from reports of his public statements, and many individuals, particularly women, are criticizing him for setting a bad example.

When Mr. Dawes was in New York a few days ago, reporters from various newspapers interviewed him. The Republican vice presidential candidate was trying to light his black pipe, which, in addition to his profanity, is one of the accessories of his political campaign. (The representative of the New York Times (Independent) quoted Mr. Dawes as having said, "Let me light the damn thing first." The New York World (Independent Democrat) reported Mr. Dawes thus: "Let me get the damn thing lit first." The Herald-Tribune, a Republican organ, expurgated Mr. Dawes for the sake of the party. "Wait until I get it lighted," was the Herald-Tribune's polite version.

Commentators are pointing out that while Mr. Dawes' candidacy will not result in his election as vice president, it may temporarily cure him of using unseemly language in public.

THEY KNOW IT PAYS.

For a long time farmers were on the consuming end, and they learned to ask for goods they saw advertised. Now they have become advertisers themselves, and they are firm believers in the power of printer's ink. The farmers of Kentucky co-operate in advertising their tobacco for sale; the "Sunmaid" and "Sunkist" fruit growers of the Pacific Coast spend hundreds of thousands yearly in advertising, and so do the "Sealdsweet" fruit and vegetable growers of the South. Now the "Dairylea" brand of milk is being put out by the National Dairyman's League—and being widely advertised. And in many instances the local organizations use their home-town paper with profit. It causes increased sales, and increased sales mean lower prices to the buyer. It helps the editor to make a bigger and better paper for the same amount of money he now charges for subscriptions. In fact, if there is anyone on earth that advertising doesn't help let him hold up his hand. We want to see what kind of looking critter he is.

Mississippi Highway Department has advertisement elsewhere in these columns calling for bids for a new road project in the county, to be built immediately. Hancock county will soon be a net of fine roadways, connecting with the balance of the State, to say nothing of the shortening of distances and added values to reality. There is a great day for Hancock county and the time is not distant.

A party of autoists recently left Bay St. Louis on an extended trip up State. On the return the expression was heard, "The worst part of the entire trip was the northeast corner of Carroll avenue!"

BAY ST. LOUIS SPORTS.

VICTORY ARENA RETURNS.

Perrin Wins Over Ernie Perrin. Perrin Fouts in Fifth to Save Self. "Walloping Wop" Whips Bob McGee in Semi-Rattling Preliminaries Make Good Show.

Again the Legion put over a first-class show when they presented a card last Monday evening at the Victory Arena that held to the pace they have set as Sport Entertainers. True there was not the big overflow of houses that was obtained on the Monday previous when Moran and Cameron went together, but a fair audience was on hand to enjoy an almost perfect evening.

Doubtless there would have been a very large crowd, but the word got around that Peterson was merely a "set-up" for the powerful Ernie Perrin, who had gone so far as to state emphatically that he would stop the "pine-top" from the lumber region in the third round or give a big share of his earnings to the Legion. That thinned the crowd of fans, who find no amusement in seeing a "set-up" get hammered around the ring. Surprise, however, breaking surprise, was the notion of the scrapper from the Big Burg, when he faced the "Pine-top" of Kiln. The shoe proved to be on the other foot, for Peterson made a monkey of the "killer," and had the bout gone farther would have administered a dose of the stuff that makes a guy hear strange noises.

In order to save himself from the inevitable knock out that was on its way, Perrin fouled Peterson and lost the fight.

Fight By Rounds.

Cautiously the battlers faced each other, sparring for an opening; Peterson came up with a left jab to the face; Perrin gets in close and essays a hard left hook that glanced; both men encountered some stiff jolts in the close exchange, Perrin larding one to the jaw that shook the Pine-top, who retaliates with a stiff jab to the nose at the bell.

The second round found Pete more cautious; keeping the visitor at arm's length with left stabs to the nose, but Perrin wouldn't be denied and came in close, hooking one to face. Peterson continued sending Ernie's head back with tantalizing jabs, opening a cut on left eye.

Perrin came in the third with a rush, the crowd calling on him to make good his boast of K. O'ing Peterson, and went at the Pine-top hard, missing two left swings to the head, but landing a right and left to body. Pete hooked a hard right to Perrin's jaw that put a halt to his rushes, and followed it up with more stiff jabs to the left eye, that was then bleeding.

The fourth came near being the finish of the visitor. Perrin rushed in and landed hard left to the chin, Peterson took it easily and met his opponent with a ripping uppercut to the chin that hurt. Pete sends over two in succession to the same eye and missed a haymaker, but lands hard right to body. Perrin covers and Pete plays with both hands, the bell coming handily for Perrin.

When the fifth stanza rounded Perrin saw the handwriting on the wall and knew the jig was up with his hopes; he vainly tried to get over a telling blow, but always those long arms of the KJin "Pine-top" were there to ward off or jab that sore optic. Things started to get bad for Perrin; Peterson got him in the ropes and it looked like a swan-song when Perrin who had been cautioned by Referee McDonald about hitting low, drove one low to the groin. McDonald stopped the fight then and raised the hand of Peterson as winner.

"Wop" Breaks McGee's Nose.

As in the main, it was rumored about the New Orleans lad, Bob McGee, that he was simply a toy with Young Loicaco, the "Walloping Wop," and K. O. him at pleasure. And, as in the main bout, the shoe was on the other foot, the Walloping Wop living up to his sobriquet by walloping the light out of McGee.

The fight was scheduled to be a six-round affair, but there was too much Wop and it ended in the third when Santa sent over a mighty right that went crashing to Bob's nose, breaking that useful piece of facial furniture and putting the McGee hors de combat.

Loicaco opened the first round by sending a jab after jab to McGee's face, landing a half dozen in succession. The Wop's wonderful improvement was the talk of the ringside. McGee missed a hook and Santa drives to heart. Wins first easily.

The Wop keeps up the pace in the second and toys with his man; jabbing at will and causing Bob to miss repeatedly. Bob finally reaches Loicaco's face lightly and misses; vicious hook Wop drives a stinger to body.

The Wop opened the third by sending over a hard left to the jaw that staggered McGee; he followed his advantage and rained blows to the visitor's head. Getting near McGee's corner, the Wop feints with left and drives right with crushing force to Bob's nose; the nose could not stand the impact and broke, blood streaming to the mat. While covering his face Bob was at the mercy of the Wop, who drove blow after blow in, trying to put him down, but Mack had two excellent legs and they refused to give way. The bell saved him further punishment, but McGee was unable to recover and the Walloping Wop's flag flew aloft again in victory.

The Juvenile Opener.

The entertainment opened with a four-round bout between Young Mandot and Battling Scafide, and was a first class exhibition of the art, especially being pulled off by two little fellows knee high to a duck's garter. Usually Scafide was the mercy of Mandot, but this time out the Battler showed that he had not been asleep all the time, but putting himself in shape, and he gave an exhibition that brought the crowd to its feet.

Both boys worked all the time, the Battler having a slight advantage, but the bout was declared a draw.

Fayard Wins Over Perrin. The second mill was a scheduled

ROCK-A-CHAWS TO START SUNDAY.

Baseball Game With the Chero-Cola Team—Large Number of Try-Outs For Football.

Again we have our Rock-a-Chaws in action. Finishing up the baseball season they will play three games with very good teams. On Sunday, September 14th, they are to cross bats with the Chero-Cola of New Orleans; then, on the following Sunday (21st) they meet the strong Hi-bernia Bankers, with the Whitney-Central Bankers to close the season on the 28th.

With the exception of two pitchers and an outfielder, Gex, Cleveland and Pettijean, the whole team will be in the field. Bontemps, Heydel and Slade will do the twirling for the Rocks.

Reporting For Practice. When Coach Commagere sent the word out for prospective football players to gather for practice, a total of eighty-one students responded; that is an evidence of the Stanslaus spirit that is seen all along the line of sports. Every player is doing his utmost to make good, and such a spirit gladdens the heart of any coach. It is no wonder that the old Red and Black are winners, their enthusiasm alone counts for half the battle.

Some of the fine timber of last year's teams will be missing in those who graduated, but others are coming up to take their places and the dash that has characterized the Rock-a-Chaws for years will not be wanting.

four-round between Charley Fayard and Kid Pecheu. Fayard winning the decision. Science stocks took a tumble in this bout, and the wild flaying of the ozone nearly crashed the market.

Fechu, a new prelim boy of local insinuation, didn't seem to be afraid of taking a blow, but was unable to connect to advantage. Fayard, although he has fought before, seemed a bit leary of the green trunks and took few chances. His slight advantage as a ring general gave him the decision.

RINGSIDE RAMBLES.

The beaming and pleasant countenances of two of Waveland's best known heavyweights were in evidence at the ringside. Charley and George are the real things when it comes to 20 K. sports. Either "draw" it or "bridge" it.

Lieutenant Henry Capdepon, the genial matchmaker for the Legion, is back on the job for keeps, after some time spent with the fighting forces of our Uncle Samuel in the camps.

It has not been generally known that "Noo" had been advanced in the "line." He was the top sarge of the local Co. Howitzers till they disbanded. His commission as an officer was dated way back since May 19th and is a permanent institution. "Colonel" Capdepon is a favorite with the boys here and everybody is glad of his rise. He may never have a chance to be a full gen'l in the line, but at the rate he goes the pace, he will be a fine ring gen'l some day.

Paul Favre is on the itch wagon; he is paving the ground for a chance to get at some guy with a leaning towards the Texas Kid. Who, by the way, is willing to take the anxious Paul on for a spasm.

Some of these fighters will wake up to the score after a while. They seem to be under the impression that they can run into some "easy" money by making the trip to the Coast and slugging the Hicks around. It is a notorious fact that these birds usually get the nasty end of the stick, and go home sadder and wiser.

Perrin's trimming at the hands of "Pine-Top" Peterson last Monday will doubtless open the eyes of the easy-money tribe.

Harry Cameron broke into the ranks of the Referees last Monday, he having had charge of the prelims and the semi-final.

FIGHT CARD FOR MONDAY, SEPTEMBER 15.

Moran and Boyle to Feature—Walloping Wop Gets Action—Colored Bout To Be Staged.

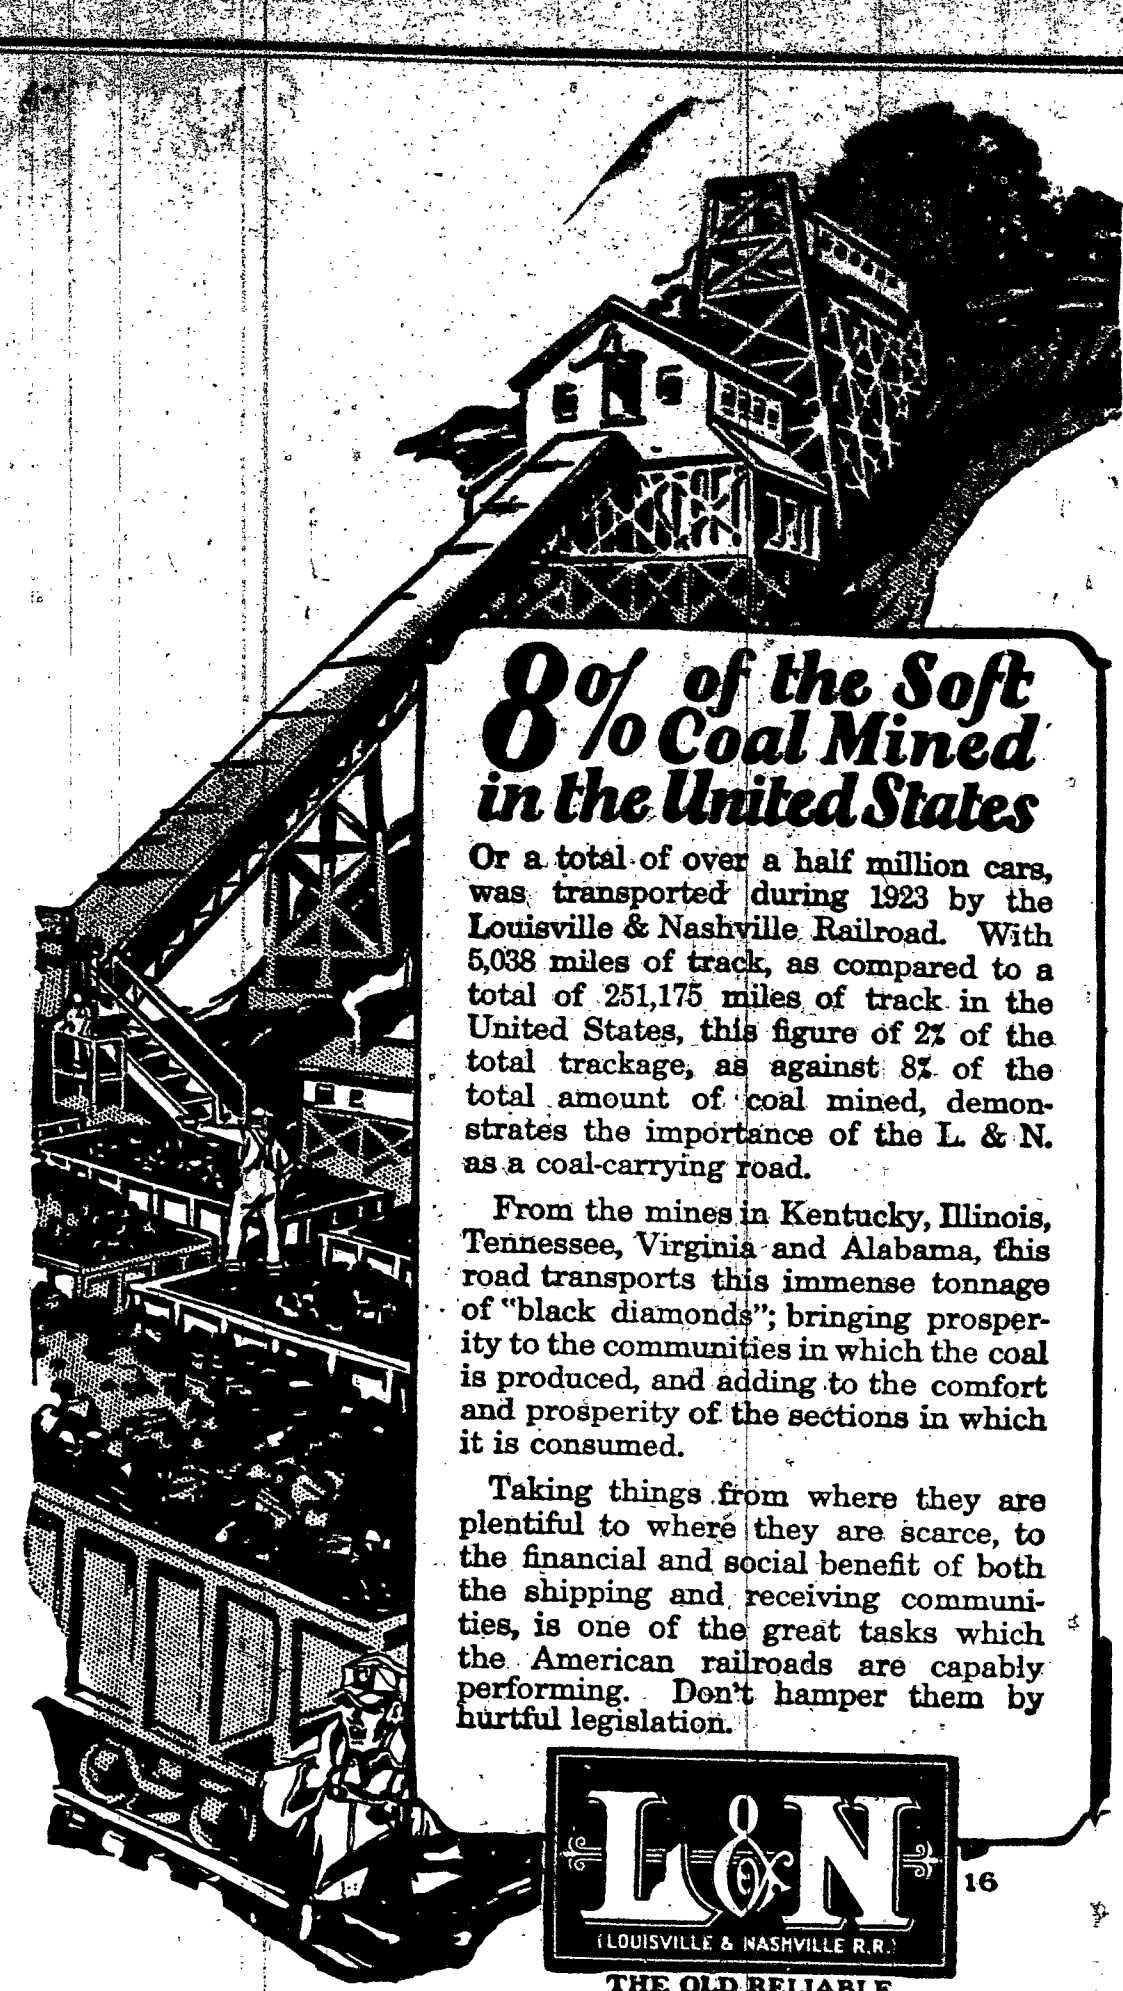

Young Moran, that flash from the Pass, will be seen in action again at the Victory arena Monday night when he meets Patsy Boyle, of New Orleans, for eight rounds, and the local fans will again be treated to some good scrapping. Everybody knows that when Moran is scheduled to battle there's bound to be some rapid action. Boyle comes from the Crescent City with a very good reputation as a battler. If he lives up to the dope, the fans will gain by appearing en masse.

The semi-final will be a six-round bout between the new "Pride" of Bay St. Louis, the "Walloping Wop," and Pete Abraham, of New Orleans. Little doubt could be gotten on Abraham, but if he stands up before the nose-breaker, he'll have to be loaded with the goods.

Prominent in the prelims will be a four-round engagement between two colored battlers: Sammy Nichols and Kid Smith, of local persuasion. Both fighters are well known and should attract quite a number of the colored fans.

DISTRICT ATTORNEY'S WIFE UNDER KNIFE.

Mrs. Cliff Cowan, district attorney's wife, a few days since underwent a surgical operation at Gulfport, Dr. Allen, of New Orleans, surgeon in charge. We are glad to note she is doing well. Under the stress, Mr. Cowan attended Hancock county circuit court, aggressive and efficient as ever.

8% of the Soft Coal Mined in the United States
Or a total of over a half million cars, was transported during 1923 by the Louisville & Nashville Railroad. With 5,038 miles of track, as compared to a total of 231,175 miles of track in the United States, this figure of 8% of the total tonnage, as against 3% of the total amount of coal mined, demonstrates the importance of the L. & N. as a coal-carrying road.

From the mines in Kentucky, Illinois, Tennessee, Virginia and Alabama, this road transports this immense tonnage of "black diamonds," bringing prosperity to the communities in which the coal is produced, and adding to the comfort and prosperity of the sections in which it is consumed.

Taking things from where they are plentiful to where they are scarce, to the financial and social benefit of both the shipping and receiving communities, is one of the great tasks which the American railroads are capably performing. Don't hamper them by hurling legislation.

—Mrs. B. R. Perkins and daughter, who have been at Hendersonville, N. C., spending the greater part of the summer, returned home during the week and plan to spend the winter in New Orleans. Mrs. Perkins was vastly benefited by her trip.

—Mrs. Ruth Brosnan and two children, of New Orleans are visiting their relative, Mrs. D. S. Brosnan, and Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Forwood, the house guests of the latter. They are spending today motoring along the beach.

—St. Stanislaus College and St. Joseph Academy opened the 1924-25 sessions Monday and Tuesday, with increase attendance. The outlook for both institutions this season is unusually bright.

—To most men the annoying thing about a vacation is coming home and discovering that nobody missed them.

LATITE SHINGLES

Fire-safe—and more!

Of course GENASCO Latite Shingles are fire-safe. You wouldn't buy any roofing today that wasn't. But you don't buy roofing for fire protection only. You demand WEATHER protection.

GENASCO Latite Shingles weather all weather. The sun can't curl them. Frost can't pry them apart. Wind can't tear them off. They lay tight and stay tight because they're locked tight.

Let us show you their locking-on feature—how they give you protection against fire—why Trinidad Lake Asphalt Cement gives them such extraordinary resistance to wear and weather.
